

CineMassive Displays Announces the OmegaPlex: The Ultimate Multi Monitor Desktop Display for Maximum Visualization

CineMassive Displays Now Offering the OmegaPlex Ultra High Resolution Multi Monitor Desktop Display Wall

Atlanta, GA – October 08, 2008 – CineMassive Displays announces the availability of the OmegaPlex, the ultimate multi monitor desktop display wall. With an incredible 27.6 million pixels, the OmegaPlex is a personal desktop display wall designed for maximum visualization. With a total 30 degree curvature, the OmegaPlex wraps around the user, providing an immersive experience that can only be described as “like having a personal iMax™”. The OmegaPlex is immediately available to ship worldwide.

- World’s most-advanced dynamic high-definition multi-screen video playback technology plays video of any format across the entire array with a single mouse click.
- High-performance cooling system ensures whisper-quiet thermal management for 24/7 mission-critical reliability.
- Available as-is or combined with a fully customized professional workstation for optimal performance.
- Utilizes CineMastery & CineMatrix multi-monitor management software for optimal Windows™ multi-screen performance.

Like all CineMassive multi-monitor displays, the OmegaPlex also comes with a premium 3 year warranty and a zero dead pixel policy.

The OmegaPlex is the first in a new line of multi display systems CineMassive calls ‘Personal Display Walls’. “Believe it or not,” said John Hardinger, a technician who helped develop the concept, “for some of our customers our existing desktop multi monitor systems just weren’t big enough. These customers need maximum visualization within a PC environment, not just incremental productivity gains.” Hardinger believes that this new line of desktop displays will satisfy the most demanding users.
